Relationship of the Practical Missions Program to the Academic Programs of the Seminary

The Practical Missions program is an integral part of the training for every student enrolled at Mid-America. No academic credit is given for the practical missions requirements. However, no academic credit is given to any student for the semester if he or she does not satisfy the minimal requirements for the Practical Missions program for that semester. No student is permitted to graduate from the Seminary without completing the Practical Missions requirements for each semester enrolled.

Students failing to complete the requirements for the Practical Missions program are subject to probation or dismissal by action of the faculty upon recommendation of the Academic Council. The semesters of dismissal, as well as possible readmission at a later time, are the same as those noted under Disciplinary Regulations in this catalog.

Practical Missions Probation

Students who do not fulfill and report requirements correctly and on time for each semester are subject to a probationary period. If students fulfill their Practical Missions requirements in the following semester, they are removed from probationary status. However, if students persist in delinquency during the probationary period, they may be suspended from classes for one semester by action of the faculty. Students failing to complete their total practical missions requirements by 4:30 on the third business day after the last exam day of a semester may not receive academic credit for that semester.
