semester hours of advanced Greek. If the major field of study is to be Old Testament, the student is required to have completed an additional nine semester hours of advanced Hebrew courses. The Doctor of Philosophy Committee reserves the right to administer preliminary language exams and/or require language instruction in any case in which it is deemed expedient.

Graduate Research & Writing Course (DR 9910)

Either before or during the first year of doctor of philosophy study, candidates for the doctor of philosophy degree must complete for credit the course designated Graduate Research & Writing (DR 9910) in order to demonstrate proficiency in research and writing. Equivalent work from another recognized institution may be accepted in fulfillment of this requirement at the discretion of the Doctor of Philosophy Committee. A prospective PhD student who is a master of divinity, master of missiology and intercultural studies, master of Christian education graduate, or last year MDiv/MMICS/MCE student may be allowed, with permission from the Doctor of Philosophy Committee, to enroll in this course.

Graduate Teaching Course (DR 9920)

Candidates for the doctor of philosophy degree must complete for credit the course designated Graduate Teaching (DR 9920) which is designed to aid students in their proficiency in teaching. Equivalent work from another recognized institution may be accepted in fulfillment of this requirement at the discretion of the Doctor of Philosophy Committee. A prospective PhD student who is a master of divinity, master of missiology and intercultural studies, master of Christian education graduate, or last year MDiv/MMICS/MCE student may be allowed, with permission from the Doctor of Philosophy Committee, to enroll in this course.

Graduate Research Methodology (DR 9921)

Candidates for the doctor of philosophy in education degree must complete for credit the course designated Graduate Research Methodology (DR 9921) which is designed to aid students in their proficiency in social science methodology. Equivalent work from another recognized institution may be accepted in fulfillment of this requirement at the discretion of the Doctor of Philosophy Committee. A prospective PhD student who is a master of divinity, master of missiology and intercultural studies, master of Christian education graduate, or last year MDiv/MMICS/MCE student may be allowed, with permission from the Doctor of Philosophy Committee, to enroll in this course. This course may be used as a substitute for one classical or modern language requirement.

International Students

Students from an international seminary offering the master of divinity or its equivalent may be admitted to the doctor of philosophy program on the same basis as students from national seminaries if they meet all requirements and pass the