Graduation Rates:
At SEBTS, Graduation Rates are calculated by comparing the total number of First Time-Full Time Students in a semester of a given year to the total number of these students who graduate by the end the sixth subsequent academic year. All programs use the six-year time period for consistency across the institution.

The College at Southeastern seeks to graduate at least 55% of its undergraduate students within a 6 year period of time. For the Spring 2007 through Fall 2008 undergraduate cohorts, 40.8% of students graduated within 6 years.

The Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary Goal is that 70% of our graduate degree students graduate within a six-year period. For the Spring 2007 through Fall 2008 graduate cohorts, 59.7% of students graduated within 6 years.

The Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary goal is that 55% of our advanced degree students graduate within a six-year period. For the Spring 2007 through Fall 2008 advanced degree cohorts, 57.8% of students graduated within 6 years.
